

DALEY STREETS THE FIELD

Michael Daley produced one of the best scores for quite a while in winning the Collie River Valley Medical Centre Par event last Saturday. Daley played with precision to have 75 off the stick to post 9 up, a score more akin to be competitive in a partner event. His round could have been even better as he had his winning score with six holes to play. Michael Finlay took the runner up trophy with 6 up, continuing his recent run of good form.

Ross Davidson used the Texas wedge with aplomb, dropping some 'bombs' at crucial times to post an excellent score of 5 up for third place. 'Noddy' Moyle was next on 4 up, followed by Steven Ireland, Ian Annandale, Dave Czerniawsky, Fred Bronickis and Greg Martin who all had 3 up. A further 6 players played to the CCR of 70 for a reward in the field of 66.

The Associates event was taken out by Bev Moyses on a count back from Nancy Lynn, with both ladies on 4 up. Shelley Barker-May was next on 2 up. Eileen Riley, Betty White, Jill Burgess and Val Riley had square in the field of 14. Extra novelties were generously put on by the sponsors in what was a top day all round.

This Saturday will see an exciting climax to the 'Trizzie' Lawrence golfer of the year award. Ed Riley and Frank Battista are tied at the top with 23, having picked up points in nine events each during the winter. Mike Daley moved into contention, two points behind after his win last Saturday. Ian Stewart and Dan Clayton are also not out of it if they can manufacture a win this week, and the leaders fail to score points.

The final Eclectic scores have been processed with Clayton Flynn coming out on top with 61, blousing Greg Bell by one on 62. Denis Cocker and Trevor McCormick tallied 63 to be next. Full results, Nett scores and award winners are posted on the notice board at the club.

Frank Battista had 23 points to take out Scroungers last week. Peter Ellery and Jim Moyses tallied 21 points to be in the top three followed by Bryan Simpson, Phil Warburton and Darren Morfitt with 19 points apiece. Dave Czerniawsky, Ray Alp, Alan Banks, Troy Sheppard and Chris Stewart all had 18 points for a mention.

Shelley Barker-May with 17 points had the best Associates score. Novelties were won by Ross Davo, Mike Daley and Eric Annandale.

Ed Riley and Ray Alp finished with 28 points, claiming the top two positions in the Vets competition last week. Jim Tyler finished next on 28 points, followed by Jim Hine on 26 in the field of 15 players.

Novelties went to Ross Brody, Jim Hine, Les McGill and Alan Kent.

Trevor McCormick scored 40 points to take out the Leisure Day event from Denis Cocker on 39 points.

This Saturday is an 18 hole Stroke event for trophies sponsored by Greg and Clayton Bell.

Scroungers is on today, Leisure Day and Veterans to be played as usual.
